Numb. 241.

THE Pennſylvania GAZETTE.

Containing the freſheſt Advices Foreign and Domeſtick.

From July 5. to July 12. 1733.

To the Printer of the GAZETTE.

THIS ſtrange that among Men, who are born for Society and mutual Solace, there ſhould be any who take Pleaſure in ſpeaking diſagreeable Things to their Acquaintance: But ſuch there are, I aſſure you, and I ſhould be glad if a little publick Chaſtiſement might be any Means of reforming them. Theſe ill-natur'd People ſtudy a Man's Temper, or the Circumſtances of his Life, meerly to know what diſguſts him, and what he does not love to hear mentioned; and this they take Care to omit no Opportunity of diſturbing him with. They communicate their wonderful Diſcoveries to others, with an ill-natur'd Satisfaction in their Countenances, Say ſuch a Thing to ſuch a Man, and you cannot mortify him worſe. They delight (to uſe their own Phraſe) in touching gall'd Horſes that they may ſee 'em winch. Like Flies, a ſore Place is a Feaſt to them. Know, ye Wretches, that the meaneſt Inſect, the trifling Musketoe, the filthy Bugg, have, as well as you, the Power of giving Pain to Men; but to be able to give Pleaſure to your Fellow Creatures, requires Good-Nature, and a kind and humane Diſpoſition, joined with Talents to which ye ſeem to have no Pretenſion.

Gently touch the warbling Lyre;

Burleſq'd by Sir W---- Y-----.

GENTLY ſtir and blow the fire,
Lay the mutton down to roaſt,
Get it quick, 'tis my deſire,
In the dripping-pan a toaſt;
That my hnnger I remove,
Mutton is the meat I love.

On the dreſſer ſee it lies,
O the charming white and red!
Finer meat ne'er met my eyes,
On the ſweeteſt graſs it fed.
Let the jack go quickly round,
Let me have it nicely brown'd.

On the table ſpread the cloth,
Let the knives be ſharp and clean;
Sallad get, and pickles both,
See that they be nice and green;
With good ſmall beer, and ſparkling Wine;
Oh ye Gods! how ſhall I dine!

Malta, March 15. The Council of the Order having received Advice, that ſix Algerine Ships had caſt Anchor at Fogeri in the Gulph of Smyrna, to enliſt Men; and that the Grand Seignior had given them two Sultana's, and another Ship loaded with Powder and other Ammunition, with which they are to come Home; they have ordered the four Men of War, which were fitting out here, and which are to be reinforced with 400 Men and 32 Knights, to be got ready to ſail immediately, to go and meet thoſe Algerines. Don Andrew de Riggio, Commadore of a Squadron of his Catholick Majeſty's Ships, who was ſent hither by the King his Maſter, with two Men of War, one of 70 Guns, andthe other of50,to join the Squadron of the Order, till Spain can furniſh more conſiderable Forces, is arrived in this Port from that of Spezie, and is to ſail with this Squadron to fight the Algerines.

Peterſburgh, April 4. The Camp to be formed near Riga will be compoſed of the Regiments put upon the German Foot, to the Number of 30,000 Men: The Troops named to form the ſame, will not begin their march thither till the middle of May next; and we are aſſured, that the General Count de Munich is to command them.

Moſcow, March 9. N. S. On the 6th inſtant, two expreſſes arrived here, one from Derbent, and the other from Aſtracan; who having delivered their Diſpatches to the Senate, ſet out the next day for Petersburg. Our laſt Advices from the Frontiers of Perſia import, that Thamas Kouli-Kan, Regent of that Kingdom, having been informed of a Conſpiracy carrying on at Iſpahan, had ſent thither a great Detachment of his Army; which ſeized ſeveral of the Grandees ſuſpected to be concerned in the Plot, ſome of whom have been executed, and others ſent into Exile; after which the Guard of the young Sophi was doubled, upon a Diſcovery that the Conſpirators deſigned to make themſelves Maſters of the Perſon of that Prince, with a View to govern the State in his Name till a favourable Opportunity ſhould offer to reſtore the depoſed Sophi to the Throne.

Madrid, March 17. N. S. Letters from Oran, of the 23d paſt, bring an Account, that the Garriſon of that Place was in a good State, and abundantly provided with all manner of Neceſſaries, and more eſpecially with freſh Meat, which the Moors come thither to ſell. The ſame Letters add, that a Barque which ſailed from Cartagena, with Diſpatches for Oran, had taken at a few Leagues Diſtance from that City, and carried into the Port of Matzalquivir, an Algerine Galliot having on board two Turks, and 25 Moors, beſides the Captain, Lieutenant, and three other Turks, who were ſlain in the Engagement. They had on board two Pieces of Cannon, ſix Stone-Mortars, and a good Quantity of Fuzees, Piſtols, Sabres, and other Arms, deſigned for the Camp of the Moors. They write from the Camp before Gibraltar, that an armed Barque which was equipped at Algezires, had alſo taken a Barbary Veſſel with 14 Pieces of Cannon, 6 Stone-Mortars, and 26 Moors.

Petersburg, March 21. N. S. The Ruſſian Troops are on their March to poſt themſelves on the Side of the Poliſh Lithuania, to be at Hand to enter Poland, in caſe the Candidate, whom Ruſſia oppoſes, ſhould be choſen King. The Squadron fitting out at Petersburg and other Ports of of this Empire, is deſigned to cruize off of Dantzick. The Count de Lewolde is to ſet out the 24th of this Month for Warſaw. The new Hoſpital in this City has been entirely reduced to Aſhes, and the Loſs thereby ſuſtained is ſaid to amount to 500,000 Rubles.

Dreſden, March 27. N. S. Above 1000 Proteſtants who retired from Poland are arrived at Frederickſtat near this City. Private Advices from Vienna and Berlin intimate, that the Miniſters of France had declared at both thoſe Courts, that his moſt Chriſtian Majeſty was reſolved to maintain the Republick of Poland in all her Rights and Privileges of a Free Election of their King, even by Force of Arms, if Occaſion ſhould require.

Madrid, April 7. The Diſtempers which have lately afflicted moſt Parts of Europe, are very rife in this City, and alſo in moſt of the other Cities of this Kingdom, but above all, in the Sea Port Towns. They are very hard at work upon the Preparations for War; and we learn from Malaga, that they are getting ready 100,000 Rations for our Troops.

Paris, April 11. Letters from Marſeilles import, that they learned from a Maſter of a Veſſel, which came in three Days from the Coaſt of Barbary, that the Algerines had detached from their Camp 2500 Moors, to ſurprize 600 Grenadiers who guarded the Workmen that were employed upon the Fortifications of Oran; but that the Commander of that Place had immediately ſent out ſeveral Detachments, who, after having cut off the Infidels Retreat to their Camp, cut them all in pieces; the Confirmation of which good News is daily expected.

Amſterdam, April 14. N. S. They write from Petersburg, that the Count de Lewolde, Great Maſter of the Horſe to the Czarina of Ruſſia, and her Ambaſſador-Extraordinary to the Republick of Poland, ſet out the 24th paſt, carrying Orders for the Generals upon the Frontiers to aſſemble an Army of 60,000 Men; and that a rich Mine had been diſcovered at Ikola, whither a great Number of Miners had been already ſent to work in the ſame.

Our laſt Letters from Warſaw adviſe, that the major Part of the Palatines of Great Poland had declared in favour of King Staniſlaus; and that a new Candidate for the Crown of Poland put himſelf upon the Rank with the others formerly mentioned, to wit, M. Potocki, Staroſt of Belz, who if raiſed to that Throne, will ('tis ſaid) marry the Princeſs Elizabeth, Daughter to the late Czar of Ruſſia, Peter I. Theſe Letters add, that Copies of a Writing had been diſperſed, entituled, Brotherly Advice, addreſſed to the Primate of that Kingdom, whereof that Prelate had received one by the Poſt. The Author of that Pamphlet pretends, 'that King Staniſlaus having been 'elected and crowned by the unanimous Conſent of the 'whole Republick, and acknowledged by the Foreign 'Powers, and moreover never renounced his Right, is the 'ſole and lawful King; and conſequently it is unneceſſa-'ry to proceed to a new Election, but only to confirm in 'a general Dyet the Election made already in behalf of 'that Prince:" The Author proceeds, in inſinuating, that ſuch Confirmation would prove the only Means for annulling Foreign Factions, and prevent the Ruin of the Republick; adding, 'that if they ſhould make Choice 'of a new King, there would conſequently be two, and 'neither the one nor the other would want his Partizans 'within and without the Kingdom, which would not fail 'of exciting a Civil War, and infallibly draw Foreign 'Armies into the Kingdom, whoſe Ruin would prove in-'evitable: He further ſays, 'that if the Election of King 'Staniſlaus is confirmed, the Republick may reaſonably 'expect all manner of Happineſs under his Reign; a 'Prince who is in Amity and Alliance with France, which 'without being able any ways to hurt the Kingdom of 'Poland, can and will do her all the Good ſhe can; be-'ſides which, as he is the laſt of his Family, there ſeems 'of Conſequence nothing to fear for the Liberty of the 'Nation; which would not be the Caſe, if they ſhould 'elect a Prince, whoſe Power might give Umbrage to the 'Polanders, and whoſe Poſterity might one time or other 'make an Attempt upon their Liberties, &c.

Dantzick, April 4. The Muſcovite Troops are arrived upon the Frontiers of Poland, to the Number of 15000 Men, who are to be followed by 30000 more, to execute her Czarian Majeſty's Orders, in caſe the Election of a King does not go to her Mind.

Vienna, April 4. According to our Advices from Warſaw King Staniſlaus's Party ſeem to gain Ground. It is now ſaid the Staroſt of Belz, Potocki, will ſtand as a Candidate for the Crown of Poland, deſigning; if he gains his Point, to marry the Princeſs Elizabeth Daughter to the late Czar Peter the Great.

Hague, April 15. By our laſt Letters from Paris, we learn that it was reported there, that ſome Confederacies in Poland in the Intereſt of King Staniſlaus were contriving to get him choſen Generaliſſimo of the Poliſh Troops, in order to facilitate his Acceſſion to the Throne.

Paris, April 28. On the 11th an extraordinary Courier from Seville paſſed thro' this City, who after having delivered his Diſpatches to the Marquis de Caſtellar, the Spaniſh Ambaſſador, continued his Journey to embarque for London: He brought advice that the Squadron Commanded by Don Bliſe de Lezze was arrived in the Channel of Malta, and there joined by the Spaniſh Men of War which had been in the Port of Specie, and four Galleys and three Men of War of the Religion of Malta, where they waited for the Algerine Ships, and Turkiſh Zaicks which are to tranſport the Ottoman Troops from Conſtantinople, for renewing the Siege at Oran: So that the News of a Naval Combat is daily expected.

Dublin, April 14. On Tueſday laſt an unfortunate Accident happen'd here, viz. Mr. George Warburton, of Dameſtreet, Merchant, a near Relation of our preſent Lord Mayor, riding out on the Strand below Ring's End, with his Brother and ſome other Perſons, for the Air, unhappily croſſed too near the Piles, which are carried a great Length into the Harbour, and the Tide flowing in, before he was aware, tumbled Horſe and Man into a Sand-Hole near the Channel, whereon graſping his Saddle, his Horſe in the plunge broke his Girth, and left him in an inſtant ſmothered in the Water; neither could he be found till Yeſterday, though all poſſible Search was made for his Body.

London, April 16. The Lord Chief Juſtice Reynolds is declared Lord Chief Juſtice of the Court of King's Bench.

His Majeſty has been pleaſed to appoint Wm. Matthew, Eſq; who was Lieutenant-General of the Leeward Caribbee Iſlands in America to be Governor of the ſaid Iſlands.

And

And the Right Hon. Geo. Lord Forbes to be His Minister Plenipotentiary to the Czarina of Muscovy.

London, April 19. Yesterday there was a Court of Common Council at Guildhall, when they unanimously returned Thanks to the Representatives of this City in Parliament, for the great Regard shewed by them to the Representation of that Court, and to the Trade and Liberty of their Fellow-Citizens, in steadily and strenuously opposing any Extension of Excise Laws, which by melancholy Experience are found highly prejudicial to the Fair Trader and the Liberty of the Subject.

At the same time the Court unanimously returned Thanks to the Right Hon. the Lord Mayor, for his Care and Vigilance for the Welfare and Prosperity of this City; and particularly for so timely and seasonably calling them together, and laying before them a Copy of a Bill then depending in Parliament, for laying an Inland Duty on Tobacco; whereby they had an Opportunity to apply by Petition to the House of Commons against the said Bill, which was attended with Success.

They likewise unanimously returned Thanks to Sir Francis Child, Sir John Williams, and Sir George Caswell, (Members of the said Court having Seats in Parliament) for their steady and strenuous Opposition of the above Bill.

The Lord Mayor acquainted the Court with his Design to discontinue the usual Practice of drinking to a certain Number of Citizens, in order to put them in Nomination for Sheriffs.

We hear the Earl of Albermarle will be sent to Holland to attend the Prince of Orange over hither.

April 21. Yesterday one Butcher, a Waterman, who ply'd at the Temple, dropped down dead of an Apoplectick Fit, as he was rowing in his Boat.

We hear that his Royal Highness the Prince of Orange, who is shortly expected in England, will reside at Somerset House, several Apartments in that Palace having been lately repaired and beautified for his Reception.

A great many Peers and Commoners, who were invited to the Entertainment Yesterday at the Spanish Ambassador's, in Honour of his Catholick Majesty's Birth-Day, could not be present on Account of the Business of Parliament.

CHARLESTOWN, May 5.

On Monday arrived here two Indian Traders, one from the Cherokees, and the other from the Creeks, who report, that the Cherokees and Creeks are at War with each other, and that each side had brought in six Scalps the Day before their Departure.

On Tuesday last, between 4 and 5 o'Clock in the Afternoon, a great Storm of Hail fell in St. John's Parish, the like not being known before in this Province; some of the Hail-Stones being as big as Pullet's Eggs, and did considerable Damage to the Fruits of the Earth.

Port-Royal, May 21. The James, ----- Yoakley Master, 110 Tons Burthen, and six Guns, who arrived here from London, with Passengers and Stores for Georgia, sailed from hence on Tuesday the 8th of this Instant. Capt Yoakly upon the 14th arrived at Savannah, the Town lately built by the new Colony, on the River of that Name. In her Passage thither, the Foremast-Men threatned to run away with the Ship, and mutinied against the Mate and Passengers, who gave Notice to Port Royal, on which Lieutenant Watts with the Garrison Boat, went immediately on board, and reduced the Mutineers to Reason, putting the Ringleader of them, who had formerly been a Pirate, and had taken the Benefit of the Act of Grace, into Irons. The Ship rode in 2 Fathom and an half Water, at Low-Water Mark, close to the Town, and unloaded there. Capt. Yoakley received the Prize, which the Trustees ordered to be given to the first Ship that should unload at the said Town. The Bar, and the Channel up the River is good, and there is Water enough for much larger Shipping.

BOSTON, June 21.

Extract from the Journal of the Hon. House of Representatives.

Jovis Die 14. Junij, A. D 1733.

A Message from his Excellency the Governour by Mr. Secretary, viz.

Gentlemen of the House of Representatives,

YOU are sensible that as often as you have attempted a Supply of the Treasury according to the tenour of the Bill you have now past'd, so often I have refused to Sign it; and to prevent your losing any more time in this necessary Business, I think it proper once more to declare to you, that I shall not give my assent to any Bill projected in this manner.

Veneris Die 15. Junij, A. D. 1733

According to the order of last Night, the House entred further into the Consideration of the Affair of the Supply of the Treasury, and after a full Debate thereon. the following Question was put, viz. Whether the House at this Time will project any other Method for Supply of the Treasury than the Bill already passed both Houses this Session for that purpose?

It pass'd in the Negative.

Martis Die 19. Junij, A. D. 1733. Post Meridiem.

'On a Motion made & seconded by many Members, 'Ordered, That Mr. Cooke, Mr. Cushing, Mr. Welles, Major 'Brattle, and Mr. Thatcher, be a Committee to prepare a 'Vote for the Reception of James Oglethorp, Esq; who may 'be expected in Boston this Summer, that so the Govern-'ment may express their grateful sense of his good Ser-'vices to the publick interest of the Province.

Mercurij Die 20 Junij, "Mr. Cooke from the Committee 'appointed last Night to prepare a Vote for the Reception 'of James Oglethorp, Esq; reported it according to order, 'which was read and accepted, and thereupon the House 'came into the following Vote, viz.

'Whereas James Oglethorp, Esq; a Member of Parliament, now at Georgia near South-Carolina, hath at several times 'appeared in favour of New-England, and in a particular 'manner done many good Offices for this Province; which this 'Court have been advised of from Mr. Agent Wilks, and that he 'intends in a short time to return for Great Britian by the way 'of Boston.

'Ordered, That a Committee of this Court take care for 'the Reception of that Gentleman in Boston, and in the 'Name and behalf of this Government in a publick 'manner assure him, how gratefully they accept and 'esteem his kind and generous Actions in promoting the 'Good and Prosperity of this Province; That Letters be 'prepared and dispatched for New-York, Connecticut, 'and Rhode-Island, to meet Mr. Oglethorp on his Journey 'hither, desiring that he would advise when he purpos-'to be at Boston.

At the Adjourning of the Court to the 15th of August next, his Excellency made the following Speech.

Gentlemen of the Council and House of Representatives,

I Am glad to see the Respect you have expressed, in your Vote to the Hon. Mr. OGLETHORP, a Member of that wise and august Body, the Parliament of Great Britain: But as there is no Money in the Publick Treasury, to defray the Charge of the Reception and Entertainment of that honourable Gentleman: I have taken early Care to invite him at my House, when he may come into this Province: And I shall endeavour to entertain him in such a manner, as may express the great Esteem I have of his attachment to his Majesty, and to his Royal House, and of his Regards to this Province, as well as of his personal Merit; and this I will do at my own Charge, till the Treasury may be supplyed. And for these Reasons, I have not made your Vote an order of this Court. June 22. 1733.

J. BELCHER.

Boston, June 28. We hear that the Rev. Dean Berkeley, has employ'd Mr. Henry Newman to purchase an Organ to the Value of Three Hundred Pounds Sterling, which he designs as a Present to the Church at Newport on Rhode-Island; and that the Dean is procuring a valuable Collection of Books, which he intends to present to Harvard College.

Yesterday arrived here his Majesty's Ship Sheerness in 6 Weeks from Portsmouth; by whom we have Advice, That the Memorial of the House of Representatives of New-England was presented to the House of Commons the 8th Day of May, and being read, the House Resolved, that the same same was an insolent Attempt upon his Majesty's Government, and tending to throw off their Obedience to the Crown of Great Britain, to which they do, and of Right ought to depend; and therefore rejected it.

Whereupon a Complaint was made to the House of Commons, that the House of Representatives had called Jeremiah Dunbar, Esq; before them, and censured him for giving Evidence before a Committee of the House, in relation to the Trade of the Sugar Colonies; and the printed Votes of the Court being delivered in at the Table, wherein that Matter appeared; a Committee was appointed to enquire into the Authors and Promoters of that Proceeding, with Power to send for Persons, Papers, and Records, and to Report the Matter as it should appear to them, to the House.
